My Goals

- To inspire people to follow their dreams
- To bring a huge art installation around the world
- To unite humanity in creativity
- To swim with whales
- To build my huge modern house in nature, with my own hands

Frustrations

I realize that today's world is largely a society of consumption. People only buy and follow - hardly dare to leave their comfort zone and satisfy themselves with cheap products. I want to motivate people, especially my community, to know their own values, stay true to them and become active.
To leave their comfort zone and realize their own dreams.

Bio

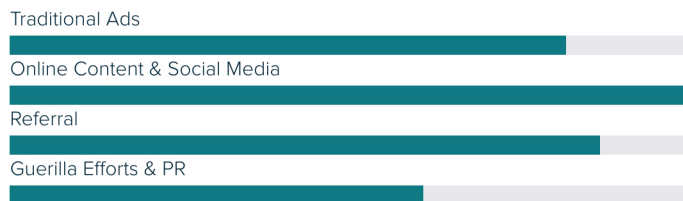

I was born Sabrina Tanja Bühlmann in Bern Switzerland. I grew up as a very creative kid. After compulsory schooling, I went to art school in Bern. After that I did the official training as a commercial photographer and successfully completed this apprenticeship after 4 years and received the official federal certificate of competence. Since I was 21 years old, I have been working as a freelance artist, creative director, photographer, musician and model.

I realized numerous advertising campaigns and produced over 500 videos in my career (over 51M views on YouTube) for national and international brands – and won awards for my works in photography, film and music.

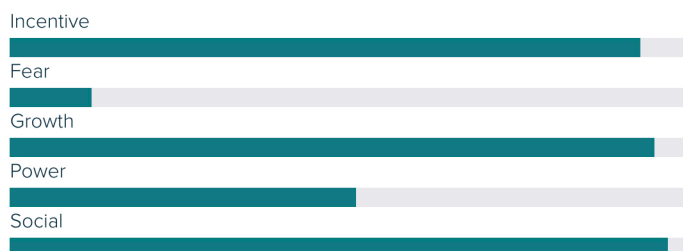

I was booked as the main act for UEFA Champions League festival in front of the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin.

My heart beats for and inside the)(Burning Man community and culture. I'm interested in NFT, sports, web3, innovations, tech and art. And I have a huge heart and two baby turtles.
